THE HEARTBEAT OF MIT-WPU

JANUARY . FEBRUARY | VOLUME 27

Blooming with New Possibilities

EP Sir's Message

As we embark on another transformative year, Horizon: The Year Ahead serves as a reminder that progress is made when we push boundaries, challenge ourselves, and expand our vision. The past few weeks have been a testament to this very spirit, marked by extraordinary events that have brought pride and inspiration to the MIT-WPU community.

One of the most significant occasions was Founders Day, celebrated with great reverence on 3rd February at the MIT-ADT campus, honouring the 85th birthday of our beloved Prof. Dr. Vishwanath Karad Sir. The highlight of the day was the Bharat Asmita National Awards (BANA), where six distinguished thought leaders were felicitated for their contributions to society. The celebrations culminated in an electrifying performance by Kailash Kher and his band Kailasa, leaving the audience spellbound and reinforcing the power of music in uniting and inspiring communities.

Another milestone of the year was the 14th Bharatiya Chhatra Sansad (BCS), held from 8th to 10th February. BCS continues to be the largest classroom for politically and socially conscious youth. This year's inauguration saw a unique roundtable discussion featuring Shri. Aman Gupta Co-Founder and CMO of boAt, alongside Shri. Satish Mahana, Hon'ble Speaker of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Assembly and Dr. C.P. Joshi, Former Speaker of the Rajasthan Legislative Assembly, offering invaluable perspectives on leadership, entrepreneurship, and governance. The valedictory session, graced by Shri Dattatray Bharane, Hon. Minister of Minority Development and Aukaf of Maharashtra, encouraged educated youth to engage in politics and contribute actively to nation-building.

Running parallel to BCS was the Capacity Enhancement Program under the aegis of the National Legislators' Conference (NLC) Bharat 2025. Held on the 8th and 9th of February, the forum saw participation from 160 Indian legislators across party lines. The conference facilitated discussions on policy, technology, ethical leadership, and smart governance. By fostering dialogue and collaboration, NLC reaffirmed our commitment to strengthening democratic institutions and encouraging youth participation in governance.

Beyond leadership and governance, our students showcased their creativity and cultural dynamism through two spectacular student-driven cultural festivals – Spandan 2025 and Aarohan 2025. The festivals bring together students from various disciplines to engage in cultural showcases, industry interactions, and thought-provoking speeches. Embracing creativity, collaboration, and a deep appreciation for artistic expression is a true testament to MIT-WPU's commitment to holistic education.

As we step into 2025, it is imperative that we embrace new challenges, set ambitious goals, and push beyond our comfort zones. Horizon is not just a theme—it is a call to action. True progress lies in expanding our perspectives, redefining possibilities, and striving for excellence.

This year, let us work together—students, faculty, and staff—to touch new horizons, break new ground, and create a legacy of achievement that will inspire generations to come.

Warm Regards

Dr. Rahul V. Karad
