Introduction

Embarking on a journey within the vibrant community of MIT World Peace University, Pune, Bharat is not just about academics; it's about embracing the myriad opportunities that enrich student life. Whether it's through clubs, organizations, or student-led initiatives, there's a wealth of experiences awaiting your exploration. This manual serves as your compass, guiding you through the process of forming clubs, organizing events, and navigating the dynamic landscape of student activities at MIT-WPU.

Outlined within these pages are the essential guidelines and protocols for establishing, managing, and promoting student clubs. From reserving facilities to orchestrating seminars, workshops, and competitions, this manual equips you with the knowledge and resources to turn your ideas into impactful initiatives. It also elucidates policies on financial matters, marketing strategies, and engaging guest speakers, ensuring that your endeavours align with the ethos of our institution.

Our dedicated team in the Student Affairs department stands ready to assist you in understanding and implementing the principles delineated herein. Additionally, this manual is readily accessible on the MIT-WPU official website, serving as a comprehensive reference for all your club-related endeavours.

Objectives

The journey of involvement in student clubs and organizations extends far beyond social engagement; it's a gateway to personal growth and academic enrichment. By joining or spearheading a club, you open doors to:

- ◆ Forge meaningful connections with like-minded peers and explore diverse interests.
- ◆ Establish ties with the University, tapping into a wealth of resources and support networks.
- ◆ Cultivate essential life skills such as leadership, communication, and problem-solving.
- ◆ Expand your intellectual horizons and contribute to the cultural and social fabric of the campus.
- ◆ Stay informed about campus happenings and contribute to its vibrant tapestry.
- ◆ Enhance your resume with valuable co-curricular and leadership experiences.
- ◆ Complement your academic pursuits, enriching your educational journey holistically.

At MIT-WPU, we believe that student organizations are pivotal in enhancing the educational experience beyond the confines of the classroom. Whether you find a fitting organization or take the initiative to create a new one, your involvement is instrumental in shaping a vibrant and inclusive campus community.

As stewards of MIT-WPU's values of respect and inclusion, we trust that all student organizations will uphold these principles in their endeavours. Your actions reflect the spirit of our institution, and we urge you to adhere closely to the guidelines outlined in this handbook. Should you require guidance or clarification at any juncture, our staff members are here to support you.

We welcome your feedback on this handbook and all facets of our programs and services, as we strive to continually enhance the student experience at MIT-WPU.

The Student Organization/Club Handbook for Student Leaders and Advisors

Welcome to the Student Organization/Club Handbook, your comprehensive guide to the plethora of services, resources, and policies available to registered student organizations at MIT-WPU. It is imperative that you familiarize yourself with the contents of this handbook and disseminate this information among the members of your organization/club.

While this handbook serves as a valuable summary of key matters relevant to student organizations, it's important to note the following:

- ◆ This document does not encompass every procedure, rule, or regulation of MIT-WPU University.
- ◆ The University reserves the right to modify procedures, policies, and programs outlined in the Student Organization/Club Handbook without prior notice.
- ◆ Compliance with policies pertaining to student organizations may be subject to review by MIT-WPU staff at any point throughout the academic year.
- ◆ Additionally, individual colleges, schools, and departments within the University may impose supplementary procedures and policies applicable to student organizations.

Should you have any queries or require further clarification, please do not hesitate to reach out to or visit your designated student organization/club advisor at your location. Student organization/club advisors play a crucial role in ensuring that your organization/club remains well-informed about pertinent policies and procedures, while also facilitating opportunities for personal growth and leadership development.

Your advisor is there to support you every step of the way, so feel free to leverage their expertise and guidance as you navigate the intricacies of managing your organization/club effectively.

Let this handbook serve as a roadmap to success for your student organization/club, empowering you to create meaningful experiences and lasting impact within the MIT-WPU community.

Student Organization/Club Advisor

A student club/organization advisor is a seasoned faculty or staff member who serves as a mentor to student leaders and facilitates connections among students who share common interests and passions within a club setting.

These advisors play a crucial role in bridging the gap between the university and student organizations, fostering a cohesive and enriching experience that extends beyond the confines of the classroom.

Student club/organization advisors actively guide students in their journey towards leadership development, providing support, encouragement, and valuable insights along the way. They also serve as conduits to resources and opportunities, helping students navigate challenges and maximize their potential for growth. In essence, student club/organization advisors contribute significantly to the overall well-being and success of the students they serve, enriching their collegiate experience and fostering a sense of community and belonging within the university.

Enhanced Advisor, Activity Mentor, Support Model

To ensure the effectiveness and quality of support provided to student organizations, MIT-WPU has established an enhanced advisor and activity mentor support model. This model defines the roles and qualifications for primary and secondary advisors within student organizations:

Primary Advisors:

Primary advisors are individuals who hold significant experience and expertise within MIT-WPU or its affiliated enterprises. They play a central role in guiding student organizations and must meet the following criteria:

- ◆ Faculty:
Primary advisors must have at least 2+ years of experience at MIT-WPU and hold positions such as Head of Department, Professor, Associate Professor, or Assistant Professor. They bring academic depth and institutional knowledge to their advisory role.
- ◆ MIT-WPU Staff or MIT-WPU Enterprise Partner Employee: Primary advisors from staff or enterprise partner backgrounds should demonstrate enthusiasm and experience in student support roles. They must be willing to actively engage with students to facilitate club activities and provide guidance as needed.

Secondary Advisors:

Secondary advisors complement the support provided by primary advisors and may hold the following positions:

- ◆ Faculty with less than 2+ years of experience at MIT-WPU: While they may have less institutional experience, these faculty members still offer valuable insights and perspectives to student organizations.
- ◆ Research Fellows: Individuals engaged in research activities within MIT-WPU can serve as secondary advisors, offering specialized knowledge and expertise.

- ◆ Instructors: Those responsible for delivering instructional content can contribute to student organizations as secondary advisors, providing guidance on educational aspects of club activities.
- ◆ Graduate Students: Graduate students bring a fresh perspective and recent experience as students themselves, making them valuable mentors and advisors to student organizations.
- ◆ Student Leaders: Former student leaders who have successfully navigated the challenges of club leadership can serve as secondary advisors, offering practical advice and mentorship to current student leaders.
- ◆ Coordinators: Individuals responsible for coordinating activities or events within MIT-WPU can support student organizations in logistical and organizational matters.

By implementing this enhanced advisor and activity mentor support model, MIT-WPU aims to provide comprehensive guidance and mentorship to student organizations, fostering their growth, success, and positive impact within the university community.

Why be a student organization advisor or a mentor?

Becoming a student organization advisor or mentor offers numerous rewards and opportunities for both faculty and staff members:

- ◆ Impact on Student Development:
Advisors play a pivotal role in guiding students through their collegiate journey, facilitating personal and professional growth. By offering guidance, support, and mentorship, advisors can positively influence students' leadership skills, decision-making abilities, and overall development.
- ◆ Campus Engagement:
Serving as an advisor allows faculty and staff to actively engage with students outside the traditional classroom setting. This involvement fosters a sense of community and belonging within the university, enriching the overall campus experience for both students and advisors alike.
- ◆ Mentorship:
Advisors have the unique opportunity to serve as mentors to students, providing them with valuable insights, advice, and encouragement. By sharing their expertise and experiences, advisors can help students navigate challenges, set goals, and achieve their full potential.
- ◆ Connection with Colleagues:
Advisors have the chance to connect with colleagues across the university who share a common interest in supporting student organizations. This collaboration can lead to meaningful partnerships, knowledge sharing, and professional networking opportunities.
- ◆ Shared Passions and Interests:
Advisors often work with students and organizations that share similar passions and interests. This shared enthusiasm creates a dynamic and vibrant environment where ideas can flourish, initiatives can be pursued, and meaningful connections can be forged.

Overall, serving as a student organization advisor or mentor is a fulfilling and enriching experience that allows faculty and staff to make a lasting impact on student lives, contribute to the campus community, and cultivate meaningful relationships with students and colleagues alike.

Expectations and Benefits

As a student organization advisor or mentor certain expectations are placed upon you, but the benefits of fulfilling these expectations are plentiful:

Expectations:

◆ Communication:

It's essential to maintain open lines of communication with student organization officers. This involves being readily available and responsive through agreed-upon channels such as Slack, email, phone, or Zoom. Additionally, supporting student communication efforts within specified clubs and organizations is crucial. Engaging in dialogue with student organizations to assess event success and gather feedback for future improvements is also expected.

◆ Attending Meetings:

Actively participating in club leadership meetings is vital. This includes attending general body meetings, executive board meetings, and other gatherings where club decisions are made, and plans are discussed.

◆ Attending Events:

Collaborating with student clubs to plan and participate in safe and productive events is essential. Advisors are expected to attend large-scale organizational events as outlined in the Special Events Registry Form and act as the on-site staff liaison, ensuring smooth execution and adherence to university policies and procedures.

Benefits:

◆ Student Engagement:

By fulfilling these expectations, advisors can actively engage with student leaders and contribute to their development. Establishing a supportive relationship with students fosters trust and allows advisors to guide them towards success.

◆ Professional Development:

Serving as an advisor offers opportunities for professional growth and development. Advisors can hone their communication, leadership, and organizational skills while working collaboratively with student organizations and university staff.

◆ Impactful Contributions:

Advisors play a pivotal role in shaping the student experience and campus culture. By attending meetings and events, advisors can provide valuable insights, guidance, and support, ultimately contributing to the overall success of student organizations.

◆ Networking Opportunities:

Engaging with student organizations allows advisors to connect with students, colleagues, and external stakeholders who share similar interests and goals. These connections can lead to valuable networking opportunities and collaborations.

In summary, while fulfilling the expectations of a student organization advisor requires commitment and dedication, the benefits of actively engaging with student leaders and contributing to their success are immensely rewarding. Advisors have the opportunity to make a meaningful impact on campus culture, student development, and their own professional growth.

Best Practices

To ensure the success and smooth operation of the student organization you advise, it's essential to implement the following best practices:

- ◆ Set Realistic Goals:

Work with the student organization to develop achievable goals for the academic year. These goals should align with the educational and personal development objectives of the students involved, fostering growth and progress.

- ◆ Familiarize Yourself with Governing Documents:

Become well-acquainted with the student organization's constitution and any other governing documents. This understanding will enable you to provide effective advice and guidance to the organization's leadership.

- ◆ Attend Meetings and Events:

Whenever possible or agreed upon, attend executive board meetings, general meetings, and organization events. Your presence demonstrates support and commitment to the organization's mission and members.

- ◆ Encourage Accurate Membership Records:

Advise the organization's officers to maintain accurate rosters of club membership. This ensures transparency and facilitates effective communication within the organization.

- ◆ Assist with Member Orientation:

Support the organization in orienting new members and facilitating the transition process each year. This helps new members feel welcome and integrated into the group while ensuring continuity and stability within the organization.

- ◆ Familiarize Yourself with Institutional Guidelines:

Familiarize yourself with MIT-WPU's Student Resource Book, Student Code of Conduct, and other institutional guidelines that establish expectations for student behaviour and activities. This knowledge will help you advise the organization in adhering to university policies and standards.

- ◆ Guide Policy Establishment:

Provide guidance to the group and its officers in establishing policies, answering policy questions, and explaining the consequences of operating outside established parameters. This helps maintain organizational integrity and accountability.

By adhering to these best practices, you can effectively support the student organization you advise, contribute to its success, and promote a positive and enriching experience for its members.

How do advisors support student clubs?

Advisors play a crucial role in supporting student clubs by providing guidance, mentorship, and expertise. Here's how primary and secondary advisors contribute to the success of student organizations.

Primary Club Advisors and Mentors:

- ◆ Active Participation:
Primary advisors actively participate in the student club's activities, creating a cohesive and holistic experience that extends beyond the classroom.
- ◆ Mentorship:
Primary advisors serve as mentors to student leaders, offering guidance, support, and encouragement as they navigate the challenges of running a club.
- ◆ Connecting Learning Experience:
They bridge the gap between the university's academic curriculum and student organizations, helping students apply classroom knowledge to real-world scenarios within the club context.
- ◆ Facilitating Connections:
They facilitate connections between student organizations and university resources, helping clubs access necessary support and services.

Secondary Advisors and Mentors:

- ◆ Supporting Student Leaders:
Secondary advisors assist student leaders and the primary club advisor in collectively guiding the student organization. They contribute to the overall advising team by providing additional support and insights.
- ◆ Skill Development:
Secondary advisors have the opportunity to hone their club advising skills while supporting the primary advisor and student leaders.
- ◆ Attendance at Meetings and Events:
They attend club meetings and events, particularly when the primary advisor is unavailable. Secondary advisors ensure continuity and support for the club's activities, as determined by agreements between club officers and advisors.

By working together, primary, and secondary advisors create a robust support system for student clubs, ensuring that they receive the guidance, mentorship, and resources needed to thrive and make a positive impact within the university community

What if I need a new advisor?

If you find yourself in need of a new advisor for your student organization, follow these steps for a smooth transition:

Complete the Change of Advisor Form

Fill out the Change of Advisor Form with all the necessary information about your organization and the outgoing and incoming advisors. This form ensures that the transition is documented properly and that the necessary administrative changes are made.

Inform Student Organizations and Leadership Staff

Once the advisor change has been finalized, reach out to the Student Organizations and Leadership staff at your campus. Provide them with the updated information regarding your organization's new advisor. This ensures that the university's records are updated accordingly.

Communicate the Change

Inform your organization's members about the change in advisorship. Ensure that everyone is aware of who the new advisor is and how to contact them for guidance and support.

Support for Advisor Transition

If the outgoing advisor is stepping down for any reason, reach out to your campus's Student Organizations and Leadership staff or Dean of Student Affairs for further assistance and guidance. They can provide support and advice on the transition process and any next steps that need to be taken.

By following these steps and maintaining open communication with both the university administration and your organization members, you can ensure a smooth transition to a new advisor and continue the success of your student organization.

MIT-WPU Student Club special tab on official website

The MIT-WPU website serves as the central hub for all student organizations and activities, providing a dedicated space for registered student organizations to showcase their events, news, organizational documents, and more. Here's how your student organization can leverage this special tab:

- ◆ Post Events and News:
Utilize the space on the MIT-WPU website to post upcoming events and news related to your student organization. Keep members and the broader campus community informed about meetings, workshops, social gatherings, and other relevant updates.
- ◆ Post Organizational Documents and Photos (Geotagged):
Share organizational documents, such as constitutions, meeting minutes, and event planning resources, with members and interested individuals. Additionally, geotagged photos can be uploaded to visually highlight past events, activities, and achievements.
- ◆ Create Forms and Host Elections:
Simplify administrative tasks by creating forms for membership registration, event sign-ups, feedback collection, and more. Host elections for club leadership positions through the website, streamlining the voting process for members.
- ◆ Facilitating Connections:
Provide a direct link to your student organization's dedicated page on the MIT-WPU website. This link serves as a convenient access point for members and visitors to learn more about your organization, view upcoming events, access resources, and engage with the community.

By leveraging the MIT-WPU Student Club Special Tab on the official website, your student organization can enhance its online presence, streamline communication and administrative processes, and foster greater engagement among members and the wider campus community.

Starting a New Student Organization

Starting a New Student Organization at MIT-WPU involves several steps and requirements. Here's a guide to help you navigate the process effectively:

- ◆ Exploration and Contacting Student Affairs:
Before starting a new organization, explore whether a similar organization already exists among the 100+ student clubs/organizations at MIT-WPU. If not, proceed by contacting the Student Affairs department to express your interest in starting a new club/group.
- ◆ Registration Process:
Obtain a registration form from the Student Affairs office. Fill out the form and ensure it is signed by your respective faculty coordinator. Submit the completed form back to the Student Affairs office for registration.

◆ Naming Your Student Organization:

When naming your student organization, it's important to adhere to MIT-WPU's guidelines. You may use the geographical designation "at Dr. Vishwanath Karad MIT-WPU University" at the end of your organization's name. Use the word "at" instead of the "@" symbol. This naming convention should be consistent across all platforms, including social media accounts, logos, constitutions, and marketing materials. Seek approval from the Director of Student Affairs (DOSA) before posting anything on social media.

◆ Organization Requirements:

Ensure that your student organization meets the following requirements:

- Operated by currently enrolled campus students of MIT-WPU.
- A minimum of three currently enrolled campus-immersion MIT-WPU students is required to register a student organization.
- Membership is limited to students enrolled for at least one semester hour of credit as a campus-immersion student at MIT-WPU. Faculty, staff, alumni, and others may participate in activities and programs, but membership privileges are reserved for enrolled students.
- All officers must be currently enrolled in at least one credit hour at MIT-WPU during the semester(s) in which they serve.
- Officers must be in good academic and disciplinary standing. Those on academic or disciplinary probation may not hold office but may continue as members.
- Membership and privileges must be extended to all students without discrimination based on age, ethnicity, gender, disability, color, national origin, race, religion, or sexual orientation. Exceptions may be made for social fraternities and sororities regarding gender-based membership criteria. Religious student organizations cannot limit membership or leadership positions based solely on religious beliefs.
- Student groups may impose membership requirements based on academic and class standing.

By following these steps and requirements, you can successfully establish a new student organization at MIT-WPU and contribute to the vibrant campus community.

New Student Organization Registration

For a new student organization to be eligible for registration at MIT-WPU, it must adhere to certain guidelines and criteria. However, registration may be denied if the organization:

- ◆ Seeks to Accomplish Objectives Through Violence or Prejudice:

Organizations that aim to achieve their objectives, goals, purposes, or activities the use of violence or prejudice are not permitted to register. Such activities are in direct conflict with the values and principles of MIT-WPU.

- ◆ Engages in Zero Tolerance Activities:

Organizations involved in activities that fall under the zero-tolerance policy as per MITWPU norms are ineligible for registration. These activities typically involve behaviours or actions that are considered unacceptable and are strictly prohibited.

- ◆ Materially or Substantially Interferes with University Discipline or Normal Activities:

Organizations that engage in activities that materially or substantially interfere with the discipline and normal activities of the university or infringe upon the rights of others are not permitted to register. Such actions disrupt the functioning and harmony of the campus community.

- ◆ Presents a Danger to Property, Personnel, or University Function:

Organizations whose activities present a danger to property, personnel, and/or the orderly function of the university are ineligible for registration. Any actions that jeopardize the safety and well-being of individuals or the campus environment are not tolerated.

- ◆ Refuses to Comply with Laws and Regulations:

Organizations that refuse to comply with state, national laws, or regulations set forth by the University Grants Commission are not permitted to register. Compliance with legal requirements is essential for maintaining the integrity and reputation of the university

In summary, while MIT-WPU encourages the formation of student organizations to enrich campus life and foster student engagement, registration is contingent upon adherence to the above criteria. Organizations that fail to meet these standards will not be permitted to register.

To successfully register a student organization at your campus location, follow these steps:

- ◆ Understand the Requirements:

Attend an information session or meeting with staff at your specific campus location (e.g., university campus, hostel campus, canteen/mess venue, sports ground, technofest workshops, etc.) to understand the requirements for student organizations at that location. Each campus may have its own set of guidelines and procedures.

◆ Create a Constitution for Your Organization:

Develop a constitution for your organization that includes the following information:

- Purpose, vision, and mission of the organization.
- Membership requirements, including any criteria for joining the organization.
- Procedures for the election of officers, including the roles and responsibilities of each position.
- Club meeting procedures, such as frequency, format, and agenda.
- Officer titles and responsibilities, outlining the duties of each officer role within the organization.
- Process for the removal or impeachment of officers, if necessary.
- Non-Discrimination Statement: Include a statement affirming that membership and privileges are extended to all students without discrimination based on various factors, as specified in the provided example statement.

◆ Complete the Registration Form:

Fill out the registration form with the following information:

- Club Name: Provide the name of your student organization.
- Club Description: Briefly describe the purpose and activities of your organization.
- Mission of the Student Club: Clearly state the mission and goals of your organization.
- Club Constitution: Attach the constitution you created for your organization.
- Contact Information for 3 Club Officers: Include the full names, MIT-WPU email addresses, usernames, ID/PRN numbers, and phone numbers of three club officers.
- Contact Information for Primary Faculty/Staff Advisor: Provide the full name, MIT-WPU email address, username, phone number, university position title, and any other relevant contact information for the primary faculty/staff advisor.

Once you have completed the registration form and gathered all necessary documents and information, submit the form to the appropriate department or staff member responsible for overseeing student organizations at your campus location. Be sure to follow any additional instructions or requirements provided during the information session or meeting.

Club Registration Steps

Step 1:

Ensure Listing with the Office of Students' Affairs

1. Confirm that the club is listed with the Office of Students' Affairs.
2. Prepare a club registration document containing the following information:
  - Objective of the club.
  - Background information.
  - Vision and mission of the club.
  - Organizational structure.
  - Long-term and short-term goals.
  - Proposed activities of the club for the academic year.
  - Constitution of the student body and the method of working of the club's governing committee.
  - Funding and sponsorship details.
  - Learning outcomes for university students.
  - Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between interested entities with terms and conditions.

Step 2:

Event Listing in the Academic Year Calendar

1. Ensure that the event is listed in the event calendar for the academic year

Step 3:

Submission of Student Club Activity Approval Form

1. Fill out the Student Club Activity Approval Form and get it signed by the concerned faculty advisor/in charge and officials from the Office of Students' Affairs.
2. Submit a copy of the approved form to the Office of Student Affairs.

Step 4:

Event Report Submission

1. Within one week of completing the event, submit an event report.
  2. Include details such as event objectives, Geo-Tag Pic, outcomes, attendance, Expenses Bill and challenges faced.

Step 5:

Submission of Event Report

1. Send a soft copy of the event report, including high-quality photographs, to the specified email addresses:
    - director.studentaffair@mitwpu.edu.in
    - dean.studentaffair@mitwpu.edu.in
    - Copy to Registrar

Important Note

1. Filling and submission of event registration forms are mandatory for event approval.
2. No faculty member should directly give permission to any student activity without following the mandatory guidelines and protocol outlined above.

Student Organization Re-Registration

Re-registration of student organizations at MIT-WPU is an annual process that must be completed each academic year during the Spring Semester. Here are the key points to consider before re-registering:

- ◆ Good Standing Requirements:

Student organizations must be in good standing to re-register. This includes compliance with all university policies and procedures outlined in the document, as well as having no unpaid debts or outstanding balances with university entities.

- ◆ No Outstanding Conduct Violations:

Organizations should have no outstanding or unresolved Student Code of Conduct violations. This includes not having any conduct cases with any other office of MIT-WPU. If there are any open cases, the organization must be actively working toward resolution.

- ◆ Withdrawal of Privileges or Registration:

The privileges conferred through registration may be withdrawn for various reasons, including wilful or negligent violation of university, state, or national standards, codes, or policies. Registration may also be withdrawn or discontinued for reasons such as individual or organizational conduct, failure to meet financial obligations, failure to carry out programs consistent with the organization's objectives, or at the written request of the organization.

- ◆ Identification of Sport Club Status:

Any organization that is currently or has previously been an MIT-WPU Sport Club registered with the Director of Physical Education (DPE) must identify as such during the registration process. If the organization is not in good standing with DPE and/or the University, the University has the right to deny registered student organization status.

- ◆ Appeal Process:

If registration is denied or revoked by student organization staff, the organization may appeal the decision unless the denial or revocation was initiated under the Student Code of Conduct.

- ◆ University Endorsement:

Registration of an organization by MIT-WPU University does not constitute university endorsement or approval of the organization's policies and activities. However, it signifies the organization's willingness to comply with university rules, regulations, and policies.

- ◆ Non-Discrimination Policy:

Membership and privileges, including officer positions, must be extended to all students without regard to various factors. Religious student organizations will not be permitted, but students of all religions are encouraged to be harmonious with each other.

◆ Freezing and Inactivating Organizations:

Student Organizations and Leadership staff may change an organization's status to "frozen" if it does not meet the requirements. If an organization remains frozen for one calendar year, the Office of Student Affairs and University Leadership may inactivate the organization.

By adhering to these guidelines and requirements, student organizations can maintain their active status and continue contributing positively to the MIT-WPU community.

Student Leadership Development

Student Leadership Development is crucial for the growth and sustainability of student organizations at MIT-WPU. Here are some key practices to ensure effective leadership development and smooth transitions:

◆ Maintaining Leadership Structure:

Each organization must maintain at least three officers within their leadership structure to ensure consistent leadership and organizational stability.

◆ Regular Review of Governing Documents:

Organizations should review their constitution and other governing documents regularly to ensure that procedures regarding membership, elections, and appointments are up-to-date and reflective of the organization's needs and goals.

◆ Transitioning Leadership:

Leadership transition typically occurs during the first semester for student clubs but may also happen at other times throughout the year. To facilitate a smooth transition, organizations should follow these steps:

- New officers should review the Student Organization/Club Handbook and the Organization Constitution to familiarize themselves with the organization's policies and procedures.
- Update the organization's profile in coordination with the Student Affairs office to ensure accurate and up-to-date information.
- Share or transition access to electronic portals and documents to provide incoming leaders with necessary resources and information.
- Share or transition access to organization bank accounts if applicable, ensuring proper financial management.
- Introduce incoming leaders to key contacts and partners within the university community to foster relationships and collaboration.
- Connect incoming leaders with the organization's advisor for guidance and support.
- If Student Organization re-registration is open, new officers should complete the re-registration process to maintain the organization's active status.

By following these steps, student organizations can effectively develop and transition leadership, ensuring continuity and success in achieving their goals and objectives.

Recognition Requirements and Membership Eligibility

Student organizations at MIT-WPU are required to adhere to specific guidelines and policies regarding events, finances, and branding. Here's an overview of the key points:

◆ Event Guidelines and Policies:

- Student organizations must register all on-campus events with the Office of Student Affairs. Failure to register may result in denial of reimbursement and space reservation.
- Special Events, which meet specific criteria, require advanced planning and approval.
- Public safety and security measures may be required for certain events, particularly those with high attendance or potential for disruption.
- Sponsorship requests for events must be submitted through the Office of Student Affairs.
- External speakers and sponsorships require prior approval, especially for government officials, controversial speakers, or events funded by non-university sponsors.

◆ Advertising and Publicity Guidelines

- All event publicity must adhere to specific guidelines, including the inclusion of organization details, event specifics, and removal of posters within 24 hours post-event.
- Use of the university name and branding must comply with established guidelines and cannot be used for commercial purposes.

◆ Logos and Banners

- Student organizations can create their logos and banners for promotional purposes but must seek approval from the Office of Student Affairs and the university's marketing department.

◆ Student Club/Organization Travel

- Student organizations planning trips must consult with the Office of Student Affairs and registrar each student's travel at least one week in advance.

◆ Student Organization Finances

- Student clubs are responsible for raising funds through sponsorships, fundraisers, or CSR activities, with limited support from the university.
- Contracts and agreements with external vendors require review by the Office of Student Affairs and may involve the university's legal team.
- Payments to individuals or vendors must be processed through the MIT-WPU Finance department, with proper documentation and approval.

Adhering to these guidelines ensures transparency, compliance, and responsible management of student organization activities and finances at MIT-WPU.

A. Annual Registration Requirement

Student organizations must renew their registration annually with the Office of Student Affairs. The Finance Office will not process any reimbursements or payments for any purpose until the student organization has completed the registration process. Additionally, student organizations will not be able to reserve space at MIT-WPU or elsewhere on campus without completing the annual registration process and leadership training.

B. Club Advisor

Each recognized student organization should have an advisor who is a member of the MIT-WPU, faculty or staff. Advisors can assist the organization to function in accordance with its stated purposes and provide guidance and counsel to promote the growth and direction of the organization.

The Office of Student Affairs will act as the advisor on all items related to student club policy, programming & organizing operations, and help prevent violations of university, school, community, or state regulations.

C. Membership Eligibility

All MIT-WPU students are eligible for membership in student organizations in accordance with the standards, academic or otherwise, established by each organization.

D. Officer Eligibility

All student organization officers must be MIT-WPU students in good academic standing.

Event Guidelines and Policies

Event Registration Requirement

All public, on campus events sponsored by student organizations recognized by MIT-WPU MUST be approved by the Office of Student Affairs. Student organizations who fail to register their events will not be reimbursed for costs incurred for these events. In addition, student organizations hosting events must agree to the following terms: · Observe all MIT-WPU rules and procedures, as well as all state and local government laws and regulations in planning and carrying out the event. Obtain necessary permissions to hold the event and, if applicable, follow both internal and external instructions and receive necessary authorizations

Fully cooperate with University Officials assigned to this event before, during, and after the event. Be responsible for full payments of any fees incurred as a result of hosting an event.

Special Events/High Profile Guests and Speakers

Special Events include those events that meet the following criteria:

- presence of press/media (invited or otherwise)
- Advertised beyond MITWPU campus
- High attendance/capacity
- Potential for significant disruption
- Security concerns on the part of the recognized student group, advisers, or guest

The presence of one of these criteria may not necessarily elevate the event to a Special Event status, however, these factors should be considered cumulatively. For a Special Event, space and service application must be completed and submitted no later than ten (10) business days before the requested date of the event, and the Event Review must be completed at least ten (10) working days before the date of the event. Special consideration will be made for events that fall within the 15-working-day requirement, which is made on a case-by-case basis. If the deadline specified by the facility/location that is being requested is more than 10 business days in advance of the proposed event, then that deadline will apply.

Public Safety/Security

In special situations, the Office of Student Affairs and the Director of Public Safety may require that a public safety presence is necessary for a student organization event. A public safety officer is required at all on-campus events where alcohol is present. In all cases where a public safety officer(s) are deemed necessary, costs will be incurred by the student organization.

Internal Sponsorships

All student organization seeking sponsorship from MIT-WPU must request sponsorship through completing and submitting a club request application. The sponsoring body (Office of Student Affairs) should be identified when the organization, once official, is booking rooms, arranging services and organizing publicity associated with events.

External Speakers and Sponsorships

Many student organizations plan events that include speakers from outside of MIT-WPU. Additionally, sometimes MIT-WPU student organizations have events that are funded by non-University related sponsors.

- ◆ Events with Government Officials, High Profile, or Potentially Controversial Speakers Any arrangements to have a government official, potentially controversial, or other high profile speaker should be discussed in advance with the Dean of Student Affairs. Depending on the nature of the speaker, special security may be required that must be cleared by the Office of Public Safety.

◆ Events Funded by Outside Sponsors.

If an event is to be sponsored by groups or organizations outside of the MITWPU, please provide a list of sponsors to the Dean of Student Affairs in the Office of Student Affairs including name of group/organization and the name of the representative you have been working with. We usually pass along the names of the groups/organization to University Advancement to assure there are no conflicts of interest.

◆ Only officially recognized MIT-WPU student organizations may advertise functions or activities within campus spaces. Occasionally, small notices may be posted if authorized by the Office of Student Affairs.

Advertising and Publicity Guidelines

All advertising and publicity for student organization events must meet the following guidelines:

- Posting on windows and doors is strictly prohibited and all publicity placed there, will be removed.
- Posters must be removed within 24 hours of the completion of the event.
- Activities that are open to members and non-members of the organization may be publicized through general advertising media. Notification of a meeting or event that is only open to organization members should be made internally (via email or other means.)

The following MUST be indicated on all materials to be posted:

- Full name of the sponsoring organization.
- Time, date, and location of the event.
- Entrance fees or costs to participate.

Use of University Name

No student clubs may use the official title of the University, or any of its parts except in connection with legitimate University purposes. For example, neither the name of the University nor its letterhead may be used by any clubs in sponsoring or recommending any commercial/entrepreneurial services or products. MIT-WPU stationary may not be used in connection with an outside organization that has been established by one or more club members.

Special Note: When dealing with administrators, vendors, and fellow students please remember that you represent not only your group/club but the MIT-WPU community as well, and that appropriate, professional courtesy and behavior is expected of you at all times. Complaints about the conduct of student organizations will be taken seriously. Violation of the MIT-WPU Code of Academic and Professional Conduct in the course of student organization business can result in disciplinary action.

Use of School Name

In the text of letters, advertisements, and other documents, please refer to MIT-WPU as 'MIT World Peace University'. The first you refer to the University and then the school then department and after that club thereafter.

Logos and Banners

MIT-WPU Student Clubs are allowed to have their own logos and/or banners. The student clubs/organizations logo/banners can be used for the following purposes:

- To promote student group events within MIT-WPU and throughout the WPU campuses.
- To promote MIT-WPU student clubs/groups at conferences, workshops, career fairs, etc.

Student Club/Organization Logo Approval Process

If your organization is creating a logo that includes the MIT-WPU Logo you should provide a draft of the logo, along with an explanation of its proposed use, to the Office of Student Affairs for approval. The final logo should be sent to the communications team in marketing department MITWPU for final approval.

Student Club/Organization Travel

Student clubs that are planning a trip (either domestic or international) should consult the Office of Student Affairs first regarding their travels. Registration of each student is required before travel at least one week before the date of travel.

Student Organization Finances

◆ Student Club Funding Allocations

- The funding for club activities is to be raised by clubs by sponsorships, CSR activity or fund raiser events. The university will give support for attracting sponsorships, letters for sponsorships etc. At least 80 % of funds must be raised by the club for their expenditure. The university may allot limited funds by approval from the Executive President on a case to case basis. The faculty coordinator will be responsible for all utilisation of finances and submitting the expenditure statement.

◆ Finance Guidelines

- MIT-WPU Finance department is a unit of MIT-WPU administration, which serves as the liaison between the University's Finance Dept and MIT-WPU's students, faculty, staff and affiliated Institutes, Schools, departments and Centers.

Contracts and Agreements

Please Note:

◆ Students may never sign a contract on behalf of the University

In the case of Student groups holding events at venues outside MIT-WPU, then the following procedure must be followed when using an outside vendor that requires a signed contract or agreement. Once you have chosen an outside venue that requires a signed contract/agreement, you must forward the contract to the Student Affairs Office for review. If the contract/agreement is acceptable, you will receive approval to move forward. The minimum time required to process a request is one week. If the contract/agreement contains any indemnifying language, or other clauses that require review, it will go to the MIT-WPU Legal team for review or revision. If a contract/agreement falls into this category, it will require 3 – 4 weeks processing time. If any changes are required, the Purchasing Office or General Counsel or Legal Team will work with the vendor to make the changes and finalize the contract/agreement. The contract/agreement will be signed by the appropriate person and forwarded to the vendor.

◆ Types of Payment

Upon receipt of a bill or invoice from a vendor or an individual providing a service, you should hand deliver it to the MIT-WPU Finance department for processing, or alert the finance team that an invoice is being mailed or faxed. The MIT-WPU Finance team will assist you in processing payment/s.

◆ For Reimbursement to Individuals

You must provide the following to process payments to individuals:

- Name of individual
- Business purpose of the expense
- Original receipts showing payment of all expenses to be reimbursed and credit/debit card statement, if applicable .
- A flyer or agenda, where appropriate

◆ Processing Payments

Allow 2-3 weeks for processing. The speed of check processing depends upon the workload of the accounting staff. Rush requests take 2-3 days and are approved at the discretion of the Accounts Payable Office.

Checks will be mailed directly to the vendor or student, unless the “check pick-up” option is requested.

Event and Meeting Reservations

No student organization may schedule or sponsor any events during the examination period.

◆ Academic Facilities & Classrooms

Send an email request to office of Student Affairs, along with event registration form containing the following information:

- Organization Name
- Requester Name
- Advisor Name
- Additional organization members authorized to make reservations

◆ Location Specific Reservations

Sound Guidelines

Policies seek to strike a balance between the needs of the students to program in active spaces at MIT-WPU University, and the needs of the surrounding classrooms, offices, and other spaces to fulfil their academic mission. If you are planning an on-campus event that may include amplification, be sure to contact your Student Organizations and Leadership Office for more information on sound amplification guidelines. Policy violations not only put your organization at risk, but all programs that utilize on-campus space for programming.

Food at Events

No outside prepared food or drink is allowed at campus events sponsored by student organizations. Individual students are allowed to bring their own brown bag or lunch box meal. However, they may not supply food ordered from outside to others. The campus must be maintained clean even after the event. No littering will be tolerated.

Event Planning Resources

◆ Special Event Registry

For hosting any event related to student organization business, whether on or off-campus, completing a Special Events registration form is necessary. This form facilitates event safety reviews and ensures coordination with MIT-WPU safety collaborators.

◆ Student Organization Funding

Student organizations are expected to financially support their activities through sponsorships, donations, and fundraising. However, approval from the University Registrar is required for attracting sponsorships and donations.

◆ Misuse of University Assets

Misuse of university assets is strictly prohibited and is considered a violation of MIT-WPU policies. Students are required to be familiar with all policies governing the appropriate use of university assets. Disciplinary action may be taken against students found guilty of misuse.

◆ Sales and Solicitation Regulations

Student organizations are allowed to sell items on campus for fundraising purposes, but selling food is subject to existing university food contracts and health and safety regulations. Advance planning and consultation with the Student Organizations and Leadership office are necessary. Key procedures for managing sales include inventory control, revenue control, accounting, and authorization. Approval is required for sales of food or beverages on university property, and compliance with health and safety regulations is essential.

Marketing your Organization

◆ Social Media

Use social media platforms to market your organization, ensuring you use the proper name without implying an official relationship with MIT-WPU. You can use geographical designations like “at MIT-WPU” in your organization’s name.

◆ Printed Marketing Materials

If your organization uses “MIT-WPU” in its name or any image on printed materials, you must use a licensed vendor.

◆ University Logos, Marks, and Images

All logos, seals, names, symbols, and slogans associated with MIT-WPU are trademarks of the university. Obtain written permission from the university to use these trademarks.

◆ Advertising and Posting Policy

Advertisements must be factual and not mislead or misrepresent events. They should not imply sponsorship or endorsement by the university unless approved. Advertisements must bear the names of sponsoring organizations and be removed promptly when no longer relevant.

◆ Where to Advertise

Use designated areas like kiosks, bulletin boards, and approved locations inside buildings for advertising. Avoid posting on unauthorized areas like vehicles, trees, planters, etc., to avoid sanctions.

◆ Medical Emergency Procedures

In case of a medical emergency, call 911 for on-campus or off-campus emergencies. Provide precise location details and remain on the line until help arrives. Notify the MIT-WPU Director of Students Office and campus staff if anyone is transported to a medical facility for treatment.
